

1. What is the purpose of a breakpoint?
To pause the application and launch the debugger.
2. Does the line of code on a breakpoint run when you start debugging?
No.
3. How do we debug the next line of code?
Use the 'Step Over' option to pass over the first line of code to the next or the.
4. What does the step into command do?
'Step Into' will examine the relevant method and pause at the first line of code.
5. What is the difference between evaluate expression and evaluate code fragment?
Evaluate expression will check the value of a certain object while code fragment can run multiple line of code.